

Health Savings Account - HSA

It's your choice.

Cigna Choice Fund[®]

The details

Your contribution

You have the option of making contributions to your HSA. You can:

- Allocate a certain percentage of your paycheck¹ before your federal income taxes are taken out; or
- Use a personal check or arrange an electronic funds transfer from your personal account.

Your employer may also make a contribution to your savings account to help you meet your health plan deductible. This amount counts toward your maximum annual contribution.

For 2011, your maximum annual contribution is limited to $3,050 for individual coverage and $6,150 for family coverage. For 2012, the calendar year maximum is $3,100 for an individual and $6,250 for a family.¹

- HSA holders ages 55 and older are eligible to make an additional catch-up contribution up to $1,000 in the calendar year.²

Please note, if you are enrolled in Medicare Part A or Part B, you are not eligible to make or receive HSA contributions.

Per IRS restrictions, maximum contributions are based upon maintaining enrollment in a qualified medical plan on the first day of the month for all 12 months of the calendar year. If you enroll for less than 12 months, you are eligible to contribute 1/12 of the maximum for every month you are enrolled in Cigna Choice Fund HSA. If you contribute the full annual maximum, you must satisfy specific requirements to avoid any tax penalties:²

- You must remain enrolled through December 1 of the taxable year.
- You must maintain continuous enrollment in the plan for an additional 12 months through the end of the following calendar year.

Your health savings account

Once you open your health savings account, the money deposited there is yours. This gives you a number of advantages:

- Interest – Your savings account earns interest, much like a regular interest-bearing bank account. Interest is calculated daily and posted to your account monthly. You are not responsible for paying federal income tax on this interest.

- Investment Options – Once your account balance reaches $2,000, you will have access to investment options³ through your HSA and JPMorgan Chase. Additional information is available on myCigna.com.
- Tax-sheltered Savings Tool – You may opt to pay your qualified health expenses out of your own pocket and use your account to save for medical expenses in future years, even after retirement.
- Portability – If you change employers or retire, you can take your savings account with you. You can leave the money in your account or withdraw it and receive a check. However, if you choose to make a withdrawal, you will need to redeposit the money into another HSA to avoid possible penalties. Consult your tax advisor for details.

Using your account

Debit card, checkbook and online bill pay

These are three convenient ways you can access the money in your HSA.³

The Cigna Choice Fund/Chase Master Card® debit card draws money directly from your HSA. You can use your debit card to pay for eligible services at your doctor's office, pharmacy, or other locations where you purchase health-related items or services.

Your checkbook works just like your personal checkbook – with the exception that it draws from your HSA. Use your checks to pay for your doctor's services or to reimburse yourself for expenses you've paid out of your own pocket.

Online Bill Pay lets you pay eligible medical expenses directly from your HSA. Once enrolled, you will be able to monitor, manage and schedule payments online, anytime. Payments can be scheduled on a one-time or repeating basis.

Automatic Claim Forwarding (ACF)

You also have the option of having Cigna automatically pay your medical expenses directly from your savings account.

Your doctor or other health care professional will submit claims directly to Cigna for payment. With automatic claim forwarding, Cigna will then automatically use money from your HSA to pay your doctor for claims eligible under your medical plan.

You can choose to add or remove ACF anytime during the year at myCigna.com.

¹ Limits for future years will be set by the IRS.

² If you do not meet both requirements, the contributions made in excess of what you were entitled to make must be included in your gross income and are subject to an excise tax.

³ Fees and charges may apply. See your JPMorgan Chase HSA application for details.

A health plan plus a Health Savings Account (HSA)

The Cigna Choice Fund® Health Savings Account provides a health care plan with a tax-free* health savings account you establish through your employer with JPMorgan Chase. You, your employer or both may contribute to your account, up to the federal limit.

With the health coverage, you'll pay an annual deductible before your health plan begins to pay for eligible expenses. Once you meet your deductible, you pay a percentage of the cost (coinsurance) for your covered expenses and the plan pays the rest.

You can choose to pay for your share of the costs up to your plan's out-of-pocket maximum by using your HSA, other personal money or both.

The amount used from your HSA for services covered under your health plan helps you meet your annual deductible; whatever you don't use earns interest and remains yours.

Features:

- Choose the doctors you want to see – no referral needed to see a specialist.
- Preventive care is covered at no cost to you when received in-network.
- You decide how and when to use the money in your HSA – pay for qualified expenses during the year, save it for future needs or use it to open an investment account.
- You're protected by an out-of-pocket maximum – once you meet the maximum, your plan pays covered expenses at 100%.
- Take the account with you when you leave the plan, change jobs or retire.

Refer to your coverage details for plan-specific information.

Example

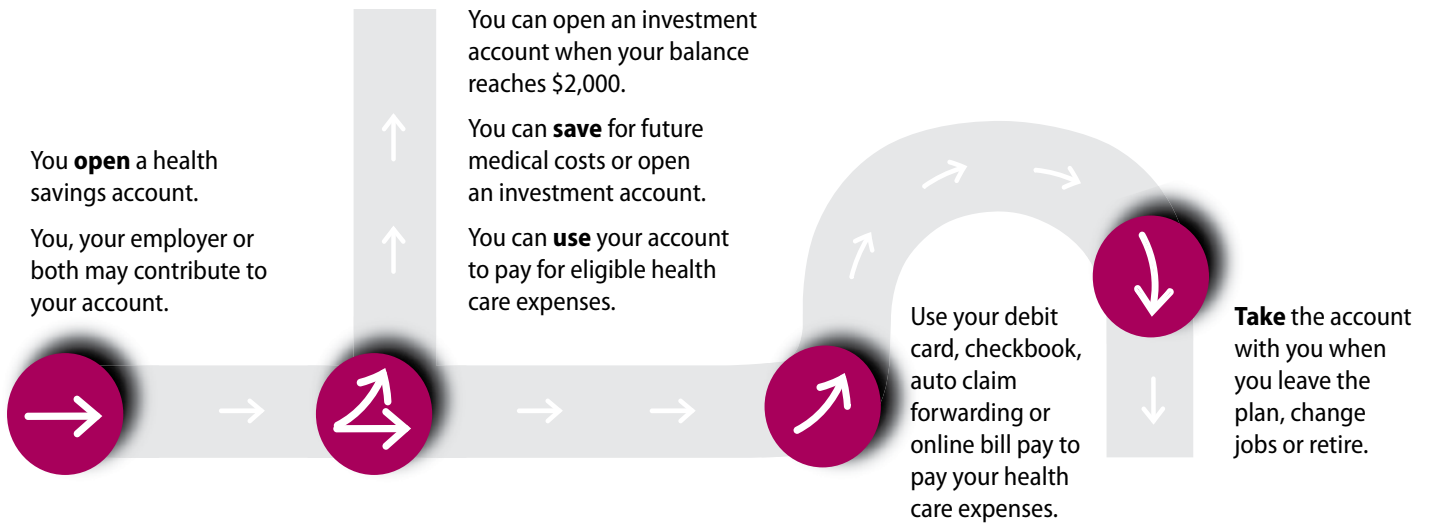

Carlos

Carlos is a 35-year-old man who is healthy, with the exception of an occasional sports injury. He enrolled in the Cigna Choice Fund HSA that includes a $1,750 deductible and a medical plan with 90% coinsurance payments for in-network services. Here's how Cigna Choice Fund works for Carlos.

* HSA contributions and earnings are not subject to federal taxes and not subject to state taxes in most states. A few states do not allow pretax treatment of contributions or earnings. We have identified the following states as having these tax considerations: Alabama, California, New Hampshire and New Jersey.

Tax advantages

Your contributions are not subject to income tax

Your payroll contributions are deducted from your paycheck pre-tax, meaning they are not subject to current federal and state taxes.

Here's an example of how your HSA can work. Based on an annual contribution of $2,500 and expected tax rates, your estimated tax savings could be as much as $1,016.

Remember, if the money is used for products or services that are not qualified medical expenses, the amount will be taxable as income and subject to an additional tax penalty.

$2,500 Annual HSA Contribution

| Federal Tax Rate | State Tax Rate | Payroll Taxes | Estimated Annual Savings |
|------------------|----------------|---------------|--------------------------|
| 15% | 5% | 7.7% | $691 |
| 25% | 5% | 7.7% | $941 |
| 28% | 5% | 7.7% | $1,016 |

Your HSA balance earns interest – tax-free

With Cigna Choice Fund HSA, any earnings on your contributions grow tax-free.¹ In other words, earnings on your HSA dollars are not subject to taxation. So instead of paying taxes on interest and investment earnings each year, more of your money can stay in your account to keep growing. Over time, this feature, in combination with compound interest, can have a powerful effect.
